PEACE REIGNS AT M'KEESPORT.

But the Strikers at That Place Seem to be Masters of the Situation—The Arrival of Troops Prevent a Clash at Cripple Creek, Colo.

CAMBRIDGE, O., June 8.—Adjutant General Howe, with 1,200 men, arrived on a special train. They proceeded at once to Scott's mines, or Mineral Siding, four miles east of Cambridge, where no resistance was shown by the miners, who had taken to the woods to avoid summons in injunction proceedings. The trains that had been held up there for two days were found to be in bad condition, partly unloaded, coupling pins and chains all thrown into the creek, packing taken from the wheels, and in some cases the ends of the cars sledged in. All were finally started up and moved out. About half the troops with two field pieces were sent on to Franklin, and the remainder are to camp at Scott's mines with guards and pickets out. The wild stories about dynamiting the tunnel and tampering with bridges were unfounded.

A report comes here that Company M of the Fourteenth regiment, of New Philadelphia, had been detained at Canal Dover, and that strikers are tearing up the track at Sugar Creek. Two more companies, one of the Seventh and the other of the Fourteenth, have just arrived, and were dispatched at once to Canal Dover to relieve Company M with sealed orders from the commander in chief. There are no fears of serious complications. The guards are comfortably quartered in their cars.

THE DISTRICT CONFERENCES.

Miners May Not Demand Recognition as Union Men.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 8.—W. B. Wilson, the agitator, arrived in this city from Columbus, O., on his way to Frostburg. He said: "The reports of the action of the committee at Columbus and their intentions were incorrect in many details. The facts in regard to the work of the committee that were for publication go to the end that, finding it impracticable and impossible to secure a national conference of operators and miners, it became necessary to change the policy of the committee in this regard, and authorize district conventions in order to facilitate a settlement. As to the Maryland region, we have determined to leave the matter of a conference between the operators and men in this region to those directly concerned."

"Does this mean that you do not insist upon the operators recognizing the United Mine Workers as an organization in the event of a conference being held?"

"Yes, that is about it. We do not insist upon anything. We now concede that as district conferences are to be the order of proceedings [illegible]

"I have never asked that the operators recognize the organization, and we do not insist upon that now. We desire that the operators shall recognize the organization, but if the men and the operators can come together for conference we do not insist upon anything in the way of recognition at an early [illegible]"

SITUATION AT M'KEESPORT.

Rioting Ceases, but the Strikers Are Masters of the Situation.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., June 8.—The situation at McKeesport remains quiet, the only departure from this rule being the rather rough handling of a well dressed stranger who was brought to the railroad station last night and hustled on to the Baltimore and Ohio train and told not to leave it until Pittsburg was reached. The strikers claimed, and the police made no move to interfere in behalf of the man, whose alleged crime was that he had made himself obnoxious by too closely watching the movements of the strikers.

It was reported that a compromise was being arranged whereby the men would return to work within a day or two, but the company officials declare that they will not operate the works at present. The gas men who were allowed to go into the mill yesterday were again barred out last night by strikers, and if not allowed to return before Monday the damage to the furnaces will be great.

The tube workers at Duquesne, who were forced out on Wednesday by McKeesport strikers, held a meeting last night and decided not to return to work unless increased wages were granted. The superintendent [illegible] will not be done, and he will close down the mill indefinitely.

For Engineer Barr's Murder.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 8.—Marshal Lodet back and a detachment of police have arrested six strikers who are supposed to be implicated in the killing of Engineer William Barr, east of Harmony, on the Vandalia, and the injuring of two other trainmen, and arrests of twenty five others are expected to follow.

Maryland Militia Encamped.

FROSTBURG, Md., June 8.—The Maryland militia today left the cars in which they have been quartered since their arrival and pitched camp on the plateau between Eckhart and Frostburg. This would seem to indicate that their stay will be a long one. It is thought the troops will stay out at least two weeks.

A Ministerial Rioter Fined.

CARTERVILLE, Ills., June 8.—All is quiet here. The militia were yesterday ordered to withdraw to Pekin. Several more leaders in the riots have been arrested, among them a Baptist preacher, Rev. Samuel McNeill, who pleaded guilty to inciting riot and was fined $10.

PEACE IN COLORADO.

The Deputies Supplanted by State Troops at Cripple Creek.

DENVER, June 8.—Unless some excited posse of deputies or a band of reckless miners persist in making trouble the crisis at Cripple Creek is over. The most authentic facts out of a great mass of excited telephonic dispatches indicate that the miners are willing to lay down their arms, come into the camp of the National Guards and become good citizens once more.

The militia yesterday made a forced march from Midland, reaching the scene of trouble about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, none too soon to prevent a clash between the miners and deputies. When General Brooks reached their camp he requested the deputies to withdraw their picket lines and he would substitute his men. To this the deputies demurred. In the evening a squad of deputies marched through the main streets in military order. Mayor Lindsley took occasion to tell them they must not enter the corporate limits of the city any more. They passed on, evidently intent on making some point of vantage before dark. Sheriff Bowers was waited on by a large number of deputies, who urged him to allow them to accompany him to Bull Hill this morning. This may precipitate a row.

Attacked the Track Walkers.

IRONTON, O., June 8.—Between 10 and 11 o'clock Wednesday night an attack was made upon three Norfolk and Western track walkers on guard near the bridge over Lick creek, above this city, and two of the railroad men were badly bruised with stones. The deputies on guard at Lick creek bridge opened fire on the unknowns with guns and revolvers, firing about fifty shots, and one of the assailing parties is supposed to have been wounded. The rioters escaped.

Coke Strikers Still Determined.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., June 8.—The big meeting of the striking coke workers held here yesterday was an immense success in the matter of attendance, and in the generation of enthusiasm to strengthen the strike sentiment. There were fully 5,000 men in line and each man carried a bunch of freshly cut roses. After parading the principal streets of the town they marched to the Catholic cemetery and the graves of their dead comrades were literally buried under flowers. A monster meeting was held, presided over by Hon. John R. Byrne. All are strong in their intention to remain on strike, and much is expected from today's delegate meeting.

Press Censorship at Manown, Pa.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., June 8.—The situation at Manown, where the Youghiogheny Gas Coal company introduced negro laborers yesterday, protected by deputies, has entirely changed from quiet to the liveliest kind of action. Last night it was rumored that a crowd of 3,000 to 4,000 miners were marching on Manown, and the deputies at once set about barricading themselves in anticipation of war. It will be a hard matter to get news from Manown [illegible], as the only telegraph office there is in the company's building and [illegible] only such news to be sent as he desires.

Militia Obstructed by Strikers.

DOVER, O., June 8.—When Company M, Seventeenth infantry, Captain O. C. [illegible], went aboard a [illegible] Cleveland and Marietta train here, en route to Cambridge, 2,000 people, mostly rolling mill men, stopped the train. Engineer Charles Hounds was either persuaded or compelled to leave his engine, but protection being guaranteed he resumed his post. Several attempts were made to start when the air was cut off. It is rumored the track is torn up at Gilbert's coal mine, south of here. Trouble is feared before reinforcements can get here.

A Minister's Prophecy.

DENVER, June 8.—In an address before the Union League Rev. Myron Reed, who resigned the pastorate of the Congregational church on account of the adverse feeling caused by his expression of sympathy for the Cripple Creek strikers, said: "I am not a prophet, but I am the son of a prophet. My father foresaw the beginning of the war. I see the beginning of a war now. These men on the hills are fighting the first battle. Special advantages to none, equal opportunities to all. Under this banner we fight the fight."

Strikers' Patience Exhausted.

SPRING VALLEY, Ills., June 8.—James W. Murray, vice president of the Illinois miners' union, has returned home from Kewanee. He was ordered to that place to bring the men out, they having returned to work without the permission of the strikers. Mr. Murray says if those men go back to work again before a settlement is reached it will be impossible to prevent the organization of an army to move upon them, as the strikers' patience is about exhausted.

Indiana Miners to Resume.

WASHINGTON, Ind., June 8.—The Mine Workers' strike is virtually ended as far as this section is concerned, and the miners will probably resume work Monday, as they have no grievance, and only quit work in order to help the movement along. The three miners who were arrested as accessories to the riot at Cannelburg on Sunday were tried yesterday, and Judge Hefron acquitted one and withholds sentence on the other two.

Ignoring McBride's Request.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 8.—There was not a ripple of excitement at the Wheeling Creek mines, west of Bridgeport, yesterday, and no attempt to move coal was made. A telegram from President John McBride, asking the miners to vacate their camps and abandon all attempts to hamper the road, was read to the miners, but had no perceptible effect.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

Mr. Linton, of Michigan, Attacks the Catholic Church.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The house had the Indian appropriation bill under discussion yesterday. The main feature of the debate was an attack on the Catholic church made by Mr. Linton, of Michigan, in which he argued against the contract Indian schools, saying that under this system the largest share of the appropriations for educating the Indians went to the Catholic Indian schools. The other point of interest was the debate on the location of the Indian supply warehouse, the New York delegation protesting against the abandonment of the warehouse at New York for one at Chicago. This gave rise to a spirited debate between the champions of the two cities. A resolution was adopted before adjournment calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws and another authorizing the committee on immigration to visit Ellis Island for the purpose of studying the operation of the laws.

A single paragraph disposed of, placing a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on buckwheat, corn, cornmeal, rye and rye flour, wheat and wheat flour, with a reciprocity proviso permitting the importation of these articles free of duty from countries imposing no import duty on them when imported from the United States, and a 15 per cent duty on oatmeal, was the net result of eight hours' work in the senate yesterday. The feature of the session was an attempt to reach an agreement to consider the next thirty pages of the bill up to the wool schedule on page 70 under the five minute rule. Most of the Republican leaders had agreed to this program, but Senator Quay at the last moment objected and it was defeated. It is expected that he will agree to it today, after which rapid progress will be made temporarily at least.

Tried to Wreck a Train.

ALBANY, June 8.—An attempt was made last night to wreck a passenger train at Rockfellers crossing three miles west of Albany on the Delaware and Hudson. A rail had been fastened across the track by means of heavy pieces of iron. The rail was carried along under the cowcatcher for several hundred feet before the train could be stopped. The train did not leave the tracks, and no one was injured. It is believed that the train arrived at the scene before the villains had completed their job. George Herbst and William Kleem have been arrested on suspicion.

Terrific Cyclone in Oregon.

BAKER CITY, Ore., June 8.—A disastrous and death dealing cyclone passed over a portion of Grant county. The path of the cyclone was from Fox Valley to Long Creek. It demolished everything in the way. James Parrish, a farmer, his wife and one child were killed. A number of houses were destroyed, and the loss of live stock was considerable. The cyclone was accompanied by a terrible hail storm. Some of the stones measured seven and one half inches in circumference.

Coxey Comes Out Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Coxey, Browne and Christopher Columbus Jones will be released from jail tomorrow. Coxey has paid the fine of $5 each for himself and Browne notwithstanding the announcement heretofore made by them that they would not pay but would stand the additional ten days' imprisonment. Jesse Coxey has been attempting to get a permit from the authorities for a parade of the Commonweal in honor of the liberation of its leaders, but as yet has not succeeded.

The Cutter Bear on the Rocks.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The United States revenue cutter Bear is almost a total wreck, and possibly by this time is battered to pieces. A dispatch says she is fast on the rocks at the entrance to the harbor at Sitka. The steamer was plowing her way into the harbor at good speed on the night of May 29 when she struck on a rock and all efforts to get her off have been unavailing.

Prisoners' Plot Again Frustrated.

BROOKLYN, June 8.—The third plot within two months to liberate 700 convicts confined in the Brooklyn penitentiary was discovered by Warden Hayes Wednesday morning and the ring leaders placed in dungeons. It was unmasked by one of the convicts who was in the secret. It is said that five desperate western prisoners were concerned in the matter.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, and the doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

A Terrible Railroad Accident

PEERLESS MINNEAPOLIS

The Cramps Have Constructed Another Record Breaker.

A REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL TRIP.

All on Board Satisfied That on Her Official Trial Trip the New Cruiser Will Exceed the Record by Her Sister Ship, the Columbia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The new United States cruiser Minneapolis, which is fast nearing completion at the shipyard of William Cramps' Sons, returned at 4 o'clock last night from her preliminary or builders' trial trip. The big cruiser acquitted herself most creditably, proving herself the equal in every way, if not the superior, of her sister ship, the Columbia. While it is true that the Minneapolis did not equal the record of 22.81 knots an hour made by the Columbia on her official trip, she did better than did her sister ship on the preliminary trip of the latter, the speed of the Minneapolis being 21.75 knots, while that of the Columbia was but 20.50. This was accomplished in spite of the fact that the new ship had to burn anthracite coal, which is regarded as a handicap. As a result of this trial it is freely predicted that the Minneapolis will make at least 23 knots on her official trial trip.

At 6:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning the [illegible], equipped and Uncle Sam's newest commerce destroyer was ready to essay her first venture upon the ocean. In the face of a stiff northwest breeze she steamed slowly and gracefully out to the Southwest lightship twenty-one miles from the Breakwater. As she passed a line parallel with the lightship Captain Sargent gave the signal to Chief Engineer Patterson to let her go ahead at full speed. The steam gauge at that time registered 100 pounds to the inch and under natural draught. Mr. Patterson gave her the required power and she headed for the Northeast lightship 9.65 knots away.

With her mammoth engines pounding away and her triple screws churning the water in her wake into a boiling mass six or eight feet high, the latest wonder in naval architecture jumped away to show what she could do when called upon. So steady was the ship even under this great pressure that it was difficult for those on board to realize that she was being given her head for the first time. But little smoke came from her two huge funnels, and it was only by looking over the rail into the rushing waters beneath that an adequate idea of what she was doing could be had. The wind came over the decks like a hurricane and landlubbers and sailors alike found it a task to keep on their feet in the face of it. In almost the time it takes to tell it the distance between the lightships was traversed, and as she passed the ship the register showed that she was going at the rate of 19.75 knots an hour.

Describing a long and graceful curve, the steel rover rounded the Northeast lightship and headed for the original starting point. For more than four hours the cruiser flew back and forth between the two points at the same speed [illegible] the fourth and last rounds, she had acquired the remarkable speed of 21.75 knots an hour, and it was known that a new world beater had been built. Then the vessel was run up the bay to Brown's Shoals, where she came to anchor for the night.

Yesterday morning the Minneapolis steamed straight out to sea a distance of about fifty miles. Then she turned, and at 10 o'clock started back for the Breakwater again. Now she was under forced draught, and the cinders were flying from her funnels like hail. The vessel flew along in the face of a spanking breeze that flung the spray in a shower clear over the bridge. Not a man in the party but was satisfied that she had exceeded 22.50 knots an hour, but when she pulled up again at Cape Henlopen Captain Sargent said she had only made 21.75 knots an hour. She had done this, he added, in water the mean depth of which is sixteen fathoms, and can do better in deeper water. He added that the turn had been made in sixteen minutes, with the helm at two degrees. The record made by the Columbia on her preliminary trial was 20.50 knots so that the Minneapolis has beaten it by about three quarters of a knot. In horse power, too, she excels the Columbia, having developed 20,000, while that of the Columbia was about 18,000.

After passing Cape Henlopen the cruiser steamed up the Delaware reaching her berth at the shipyard at 6 o'clock. On the homeward trip she was greeted by a chorus of tooting whistles, and when she passed the Columbia, lying at League Island, the crew of the latter lined up on the rail and gave the Minneapolis round after round of rousing cheers.

The crew which manned the Minneapolis on her trial trip numbered 407 men. The maximum revolutions of the shafts were 139 to the minute. She burned almost 400 tons of broken coal, and the highest steam pressure was 160 pounds to the inch. The new cruiser will have her official trial sometime between the 1st and the 15th of July probably off the New England coast.

Edwin H. Cramp, who accompanied the vessel on the trip, Captain Sargent, her commander, Lieutenant Lewis J. Nixon, her designer, and Superintending Engineer Towne, who planned her engines, were delighted with the vessel's performance. They unhesitatingly pronounced the Minneapolis the best ship of her class and the fastest of her size in the world.

Drs. Jones and Fuller, 229 Broadway:

Gentlemen: You can imagine my great satisfaction in being so completely cured of my rupture after suffering with it for thirty-eight years. I have been examined by many eminent doctors and had their trusses adjusted, but grew worse every year. By chance I came into your care, and am now a sound man.

I feel truly grateful to you, and cheerfully recommend your treatment.

MYSTERY OF A COLLEGE.

The Dead Body of an Infant Found in the President's House.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 8.—Last Thursday a week the body of a fully matured infant was discovered in the attic of the house of Rev. Rufus Green, president of Elmira Female college, just opposite the college campus. Although the discovery was made a week ago, it has just been made public and the most strenuous efforts were made to keep the matter secret until after college commencement next week. When the body was discovered the coroner was immediately notified, and he found the remains to be those of a ten pound male child. The doctors could not agree on how long the child had been dead, so badly decomposed were the remains, but they reported that the lungs showed that they had been inflated, proving that the little one had breathed the breath of life.

The coroner and Chief of Police Little began an investigation. They learned that Dr. Green had employed two domestics. One of them, a cook, Anna McNamara by name, a woman about 30 years of age, is still in the family's employ. The other was Kate Flynn, about 20 years of age, whose parents reside at Hoytville, Pa. Last March Miss Flynn was taken ill. She complained for a few days, but refused to have a physician called, and finally was given a leave of absence to go home and left Dr. Green's employ. She was gone several weeks, and an attempt was made to keep her place for her, but the time was so lengthened out that another girl was employed. Miss Flynn, when she returned to Elmira, found her situation gone, and went to work for another family.

Miss Flynn strenuously denied knowing anything about the dead body and readily agreed to submit to an examination, which showed that she had never given birth to a child. This proved her entire innocence and left the matter a puzzling mystery, which so far the coroner and chief of police have not been able to unravel.

Miners Starving in Sicily.

ROME, June 8.—Signor Colajanni, member of the chamber of deputies from Castrogiovanni, Sicily, has written to The Secolo, describing the condition of the mining population in Sicily, which he says is most desperate. He declares that 30,000 miners on the island are starving and hopeless of improvement. They are threatening to burn the crops on the various estates, and declare that if they are condemned to die of hunger others shall share their fate. Many of the miners are turning robbers, and brigandage has assumed alarming proportions. Land owners, frightened at the depredations upon their estates, are abandoning cultivation.

Oklahoma's Railroad War.

POND CREEK, O. T., June 8.—The war which began here on Wednesday is the outcome of the old town site dispute. The government established a town site and the railroad another. The residents of the government town site insist on the railroad stopping its trains, and the latter declines. Now the town people refuse to allow trains to run through their town site faster than six miles an hour. The railroad persisted, and the people have torn up the tracks and refuse to permit the company to replace them.

Two Drowned by a Collision.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 8.—The steamer Ocean collided with the barge Kent, tow of the tug Seymour, near Sister Island Light five miles below Alexandria bay. The Ocean had on board about eight passengers. Two of the crew were drowned. The steamer went down so rapidly that the passengers were obliged to make all possible haste to escape with their lives, leaving baggage, etc., behind. One body has been recovered. The yacht Minnie brought the passengers to Alexandria bay.

Vigilant, Britannia and Valkyrie.

LONDON, June 8.—The Daily News says that yachting men are trying to arrange a series of matches between the Prince of Wales' yacht Britannia and the American yacht Vigilant, to take place in the last week in July. Smith Barry, M. P., states that the Vigilant and Lord Dunraven's yacht Valkyrie will race in the regatta of the Royal Munster Yacht club at Queenstown July 27 and in the Royal Cork Yacht club's regatta on July 24 and 25.

Duel to the Death with Knives.

MINT SPRINGS, Ala., June 8.—Gilmore Kennedy and Collins Hogan, two well known young farmers, came together with carving knives near here as the result of too much indulgence in whisky at a sing [illegible]. Gilmore was literally hacked to pieces and died in the conflict. Hogan received three terrible gashes in the groin that will terminate fatally. He surrendered.

Gilmore's Aromatic Wine.

A tonic for ladies. If you are suffering from weakness, and feel exhausted and nervous; are getting thin and all run down, Gilmore's Aromatic Wine will bring roses to your cheeks and restore you to flesh and plumpness. Mothers, use it for your daughters. It is the best regulator and corrector for all ailments peculiar to maidenhood. It promotes digestion, enriches the blood and gives lasting strength. Sold by all druggists for $100.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuff, powders or astringents, because they are irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm. Your druggist has it.

A PERILOUS HAILSTORM

Great Destruction by the Stones in and About Vienna.

ARTILLERYMEN PUT TO FLIGHT.

Thousands of Panes of Glass Broken in the Emperor's Palace and in Other Buildings, Which Appear to Have Been the Targets for a Musketry Volley.

VIENNA, June 8.—The worst hailstorm that ever visited this city commenced at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. At that time dense copper colored clouds rose with alarming rapidity. The wind raised the dust in columns to the height of four story houses. This lasted a few minutes, and then the hail began to fall and covered the city in a short time to the depth of six to eight inches. In less than fifteen minutes the city looked as if it had undergone a bombardment. It is estimated that 100,000 windows were smashed by the hail. Five hundred panes of glass were broken in the ministry of commerce building alone. On the upper floors and the emperor's wing of the palace hardly a pane remains unbroken. In a large mill on the Danube nearly 4,000 panes were smashed.

The hail stones averaged the size of hazelnuts and descended in streams. Three deaths are reported as due to falling trees. Numerous horses were frightened by the storm and ran away, causing serious accidents.

Much damage was done in a field outside of Vienna where a detachment of artillery, with thirty two guns, was overtaken. The horses bolted in fright in all directions and thirty soldiers soon lay helpless on the ground. Several of them were run over and one was killed. Three officers were severely injured. Many persons were bruised by the hail in the principal streets.

The beautiful gardens of the city are a pitiful sight. The trees are stripped of their leaves, the flowers destroyed and the avenues strewn with branches and small trees. The fronts of many houses have the appearance of having been the target for a musketry volley. Telegraph and telephone poles were blown down in exposed situations, and the wires are stretched on the ground like huge cobwebs, causing the death of thousands of birds, and stunning many horses. The thermometer during the storm sank to 10 degrees (Reaumur).

It is feared that irretrievable damage has been done to the crops. Reports from Pressburg show that that place was also visited by a disastrous hailstorm, and that the vineyards were almost ruined. Violent storms have occurred during the week at Oedenburg, Veszprim and in Croatia. Immense damage is reported to have been done.

Beaten to Death by Drunken Negroes.

WESTOVER, Md., June 8.—A crowd of drunken negroes beat Constable Ned Carsey to death near here with clubs and empty beer bottles. Frank McCready was also badly beaten over the head. Carsey had tried to prevent the negroes from doing damage in a general store. Ten negroes, all from Virginia, have been arrested and lodged in jail at Princess Anne. Sheriff Sterling and a posse of deputies are guarding the jail, as threats of lynching have been made.

Killed by a Telegraph Pole.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., June 8.—Edward Smith, of Easton, a freight conductor on the Lehigh Valley road, met a horrible death near Picton, N. J. He was looking out of a car window while the train was running full speed when his head came in contact with a telegraph pole and he was killed instantly.

A Big Price for Matchbox.

LONDON, June 8.—Lord Alington has sold his bay colt Matchbox, who [illegible] second in the derby on Wednesday and in the 2,000 guineas at Newmarket, to Baron de Hirsch. The price paid was £15,000.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb 19, '94.

This is to certify that I have been ruptured on both sides twenty-five years

That Drs. Jones and Potter, of 1270 Broadway, New York, Rupture Specialists, have completely cured me in seven weeks

I have not had any inconvenience from the treatment.

I have been examined by two physicians of Middletown, and they both pronounce me cured.

LAST DAY OF SCHOOL.

IT IS CALLED COMMENCEMENT AT THE HIGHER INSTITUTIONS.

How It Is Regarded and What It Means to Different People—A Man of Many Commencements—The School Exhibition and the Rural Elocutionist.

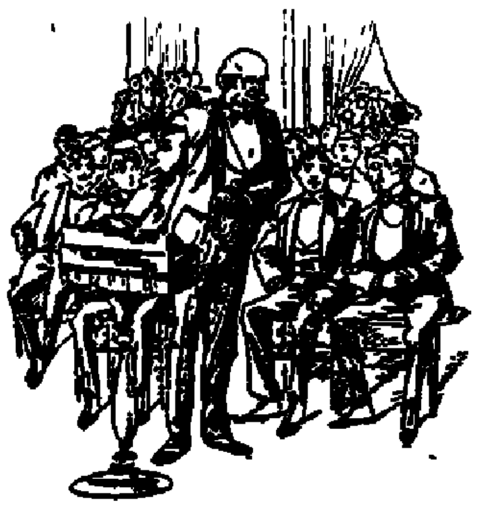
Commencement!

What does the word mean to you, reader? Does it bring thronging memories of a day that ended the period of training and began a period of real life that has been full of successes, or has failure been your lot ever since commencement? Perhaps there never was a commencement day for you. Possibly you have had to worry along through life, as have so many of your brethren and your sisters, without the advantages of scholastic training. Possibly in that case you are not conscious of having suffered because of the lack, though that is unlikely, for most men and women who are not "graduates" go through life regretting the fact. If successful, they are satisfied that they would have been more successful had they been college bred. If unsuccessful, they are apt to be seized of the idea that it is because of lack of education.



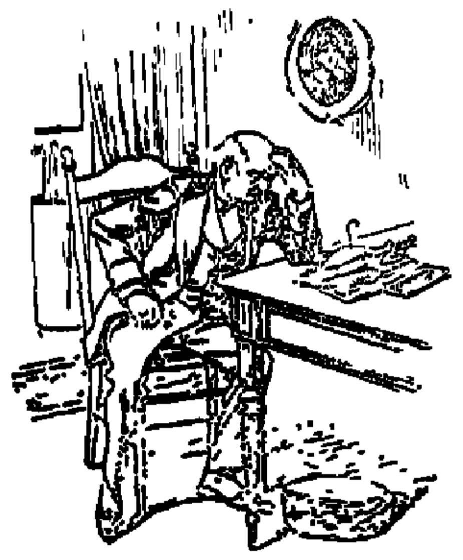
LUCKY DOGS WHO SIT ON THE PLATFORM.

If you are a college professor or tutor or any sort of schoolteacher, or if you are young and still undergoing educational treatment, commencement means "the last day of school." If you are about to begin college life, commencement day marks the end of your entrance examination and brings relief. It is also a day which you will devote mainly to those lucky dogs who have finished the years of work that lie before you, are so immensely popular with the ladies and maybe sit up on the platform with the professors who have dominated them so long, but who will dominate them no more.

If you are a lover, and your fiancee is a sweet girl graduate, it means that you may have to bankrupt yourself buying flowers for her and her dearest friends. If you are a father, and your daughter is one of the white robed graduates, you are probably waiting for the bills for the filmy fabrics she is to wear on the great day to come in. If you are a sweet girl graduate yourself—well, what does commencement day mean to a sweet girl graduate?

Sometimes nowadays it means just what it does to a young man—the end of training and the beginning of a struggle with the world for a living, for wealth, for fame or a period of earnest effort for the accomplishment of some good among one's fellows. The time for the considering of the sweet girl graduate as a frivolous little thing, with a mind devoted to powder puffs and beau catching solely, some folks tell us, is a thing of the dead and buried past. Yet there is something rather attractive about just that sort of graduate, after all.

If you are a newspaper paragrapher—that is, one sort—you are sharpening your pencil with ghoulish glee, you are going about with knitted brows and lying awake o' nights trying to think of some sarcastic thing to write about the graduates, sweet girl and otherwise. It seems to you that of all persons in the world who ought to be made to get off the earth without unnecessary delay or ever appearing in your sight the graduate is that person. You have a comrade in crime—the artist on the comic papers, but, bless you, the graduates are not half so much bothered about you and your friend, the caricaturist, as you are about them. They are young. They are satisfied with the fact that they have finished the first great task of life. They are full of enthusiasm.



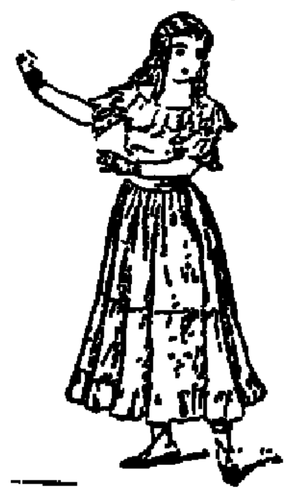
WAITING FOR THE BILLS.

To be sure, they sometimes think they can do much greater things than they afterward find themselves capable of. They have vanquished the theories and the obstacles, and it shall go hard with them, they think, if in the battle of life they cannot best their fellow humans who have not been educated, or who were so unfortunate as to be born too early to enjoy the superior advantages of present educational methods. But if they had not enthusiasm and the conviction that the world is their oyster, that all they have to do is to knock at success' door and it will open to them, it would be better if they had not graduated at all. The shining rewards of this world are not for the likes of those that are afraid to knock at the door. Indeed the graduate's confidence in himself must be sufficient to give him strength to hammer down the door if it does not open at his tapping, and if the gibes of the paragrapher and the caricaturist were really to weaken that self confidence it were better that they were taken out into the middle of the sea and dropped therein with heavy weights about their necks.

To some persons commencement day comes many times. My friend Dr. Verawyze is such a man. As the name I have given him indicates, he is full of lore of many sorts, although he has not a large practice. The first commencement day in his experience came when he left the country school in an interior state where he studied the three R's. It was not called commencement day. It was simply the "last day," and with half a dozen overgrown farmers' lads and as many country girls he spoke a piece on that occasion. He was regarded as a boy of unusual promise, for he could do all the sums in the arithmetic, and he was the only scholar that had ever studied physiology in that school. His teacher frankly confessed that he knew much less about the subject than did the boy and predicted for him a brilliant professional career. After that the young man attended a nearby village academy, and there, too, he was a marked pupil. The last day there was not called commencement either, but it was marked by "closing exercises," in which he took a prominent part.

From the academy he went to one of the smaller colleges, and there he led his classes, as before, taking so many honors every year that if he had not been a young man of unusual sweetness of character he would have been positively unpopular. From college he went to a medical school in New York or Philadelphia, I forget which, and when he had finished his professional course there he was again a figure at commencement day—his fourth, but not his last, for then he sailed across the ocean and studied under foreign masters of medicine, where he went through his fifth and final commencement day.

The period between his first and last appearance at closing exercises was about 15 years, all of which time he was subjected to the most elaborate and conscientious training. He learned all the things that were in the books that he studied. He could and can yet, for his memory is remarkable, answer almost any question that may be found between their covers. But somehow he has not been a successful man notwithstanding all his schooling. Something is the matter. When he has a patient, which is rare, he is more apt to lose him than most doctors unless some other physician is called in before death comes. He has tried to be a teacher, but he failed in imparting the knowledge that is packed away in his brain. He has tried to write upon the subjects which he has studied, but somehow he fails to make a hit at that. His friends are sure that his lack of success is not his fault. Some of them say he was over-schooled, and some say he was wrongly taught. They are not right. Education is a good thing. It does not prevent success, but education alone will not force it.



"CURFEW SHALL NOT RING TONIGHT."

Of all the commencement exercises I ever attended, and there have been many of them, those that were held in a certain little country hall at the close of the winter's term of school in a certain little village called "the Hook" pleased me most. They were called "school exhibitions" and were sometimes held before the close of school, but their object was the same as that of the commencement exercises of more pretentious institutions of learning—to exhibit the attainments of those who took part. Perhaps the reader has attended such entertainments, perhaps he has "spoken a piece" at one of them, or sung a song, or been a character in one of the "dialogues" that were so popular at school exhibitions when he and I were boys. Do you remember the dialogue "Money Makes the Mare Go?" and the recitation that the storekeeper's daughter used to be so fond of about "Bennie McCree" and her desire to have him "come over?"

How her black eyes used to flash when she gave voice to the lines! She was always encored. And do you remember how effectively she used to recite "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight?" It was her intention, you will remember, too, to study elocution at Ann Arbor or Boston or somewhere else. Her father and mother were afraid that if she did she would become an actress and had the minister talk to her about it. But she neither studied elocution nor became an actress. She married the minister, who chanced not to be too old and a bachelor.

Silas Stout, the other elocutionary star of the neighborhood, was greatly put out by the match, for he had marked the young woman for himself. His standbys were "Barbara Frietchie" and "Sheridan's Ride." He was always recalled, too, and when his first recitation was "the ride" "Frietchie" was the recalled piece, and vice versa. He had elocutionary and likewise dramatic ambitions as well as the girl, but they have never been realized.

"When she took up with that there preacher," he said to me the other day, "I was all kinder broke up like. I went into the produce business. I never spoke no more pieces." I. D. MARSHALL.

But Pearline—never. There's no fault to be found with it. Woman's hardest work is washing and cleaning in the old way. Pearline makes a new way—an easy one. It's a way that millions of women have adopted, and are thankful for. It's a way that saves clothes as well as strength. It puts a stop to the wearing rub, rub, rub on the washboard. It's a safe way, too—over and over again it has been proved so.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLIVAN COUNTY ARE DOING.

All the News from All Parts of the County—Many Matters of Interest Condensed from Our Sullivan Exchanges and Contributed by Wide-Awake Correspondents.

—Work on the fish hatchery at Rockland is being pushed vigorously. The frame work is up and the rafters are all on.

—The Presbyterian parsonage, at Rockland, is nearing completion.

—Johnson & Albee have put in a telephone, to connect their store with the depot.

—The Forest Lake property has again changed hands and the new owners declare their intention to go on with the work of improvement.

—The Ensign says that their is talk of removing the DeBruce creamery to Livingston Manor. Peter Parks is the moving spirit in the project and if the creamery is moved, it will be located on his lot near his large barns.

—Jay Johnston is talking of starting a creamery at Horton's switch.

—Lyman W. Dodge has bought the stock of the Roscoe-Rockland Review, and will have charge of the paper. He proposes to enlarge it, and to make of it a first class local paper.

—Livingston Manor will celebrate July 4th. A large sum of money has been subscribed. There will be a horse race, and a game of ball is being arranged for with the Ontario Club of Middletown. J. F. Sherwood is at the head of the movement, so its success seems assured.

BE ASHAMED OF SICKNESS!

THERE'S NO VIRTUE IN NONSENSICAL KIND OF PATIENCE.

Disease Is Not a Fatality When Paine's Celery Compound Is Within the Reach of Every Sufferer in the Country—It is Making Thousands of People Well This Month

Sickness is not a fatality.

There is no virtue in patience with disease or weakness.

"I always feel ashamed to be sick," says a famous preacher. "In nine cases out of ten I know that it is due to carelessness; I get well as quickly as I can, almost ashamed, as if I had been caught in some culpable act."

Think of it that way if you want to live long. With the great modern remedy, Paine's celery compound, the remedy that makes people well, within the reach of every sufferer, there is no excuse for moping around with a long face, casting a shadow over the bright lives around one.

Paine's celery compound cures speedily and thoroughly. diseases directly traceable to unhealthy blood and a weak nervous system.

It makes new life and courage and happiness. It has done it in thousands of cases. It will do in thousands more Try it.

Judgment Against the Town of Hancock Reversed.

The judgment of $5,000, secured against the town of Hancock by William Lain for the death of his wife, who was killed by a load of logs on which she was riding tipping over on top of her, has been reversed on appeal. The contention of the plaintiff was that the accident was caused by a defective road.

Helping the Boys Out,

From the Kingston Leader.

Mr. Dickey, of Newburgh, proposes to the Constitutional Convention to make twenty years the legal age for voters. It is whispered that some of the Newburgh boys vote at that age without a constitutional amendment. Perhaps Mr. Dickey, whose political experience is practical, wants to help the boys out.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

Tuesday, June 12th,

If you are incurable they will tell you, therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p m.

A High Compliment'

NEW ATLANTIC CABLE.

How It Is Expected to Facilitate Communication With European Countries.

The laying of the new Atlantic cable is not an event of the same importance as the laying of the first cable of this kind, but the fact that it is expected to raise the speed to 50 words a minute in the transmission of messages indicates that it will revolutionize the sending of submarine messages and draw Europe into much closer relations with America than existed before This will quicken the two continents in their thinking and feeling as well as in their commercial relations It is one of those subtle yet important agencies by which the whole of mankind are constantly being brought into closer relations, man with man At the present time the news of the London and Paris and Berlin papers is transmitted to us with such speed and accuracy that we are able to judge what is going on in Europe with substantial comprehension of its import, and when this new cable is in operation news of this kind will be much more complete than it has ever been before.—Boston Herald

Her Peculiar Mania.

Miss Sophie Behrens, a young lady well connected in this city, has been adjudged insane and taken to the asylum at Independence. Her mania was that she was engaged to several young men of the city whom she threatened with suits for breach of promise unless they came to time Her letters became so frequent that it was decided to bring her before the commissioners of insanity. It is a peculiar case She even went so far as to have her wedding trousseau made —Dubuque Cor Minneapolis Tribune

A Novel Bottle.

A Skowhegan (Me) manufacturer of patent medicine made an offer of $20,000 to any one who should invent for him a bottle that could not be refilled after once being emptied. An ingenious mechanic named McQuillan has invented such an article, and the firm has allowed him six months more to make any improvements or changes needed in his invention It is a curious yet simple article and will cost only a trifle more than an ordinary bottle —Lewiston Journal

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1894.

Eight prisoners, condemned to death, will be hung in Montgomery, Ala., during the month of July. Apparently they do not lynch all their bad men in the South.

A Chicago firm, which owns all the good apples there are in that city, is holding them at $50 a barrel. As there are only 400 apples in a barrel, this makes the price twelve and a half cents each.

Hon. Joseph Choate, president of the Constitutional Convention, is pulled both ways on the woman suffrage question. His wife wants to vote and his daughters do not. Under the circumstances the safest place for Mr. Choate is on the fence.

The Republican organs are very much excited because, as they allege, the Democratic party is pandering to the trusts in a way in which these same organs formerly stoutly contended that trusts could not be pandered to. Really, the Republican organs are amusing.

The Minneapolis in her preliminary trial, yesterday, made a record of 21.75 knots an hour, by all odds the best performance ever made by any ship under similar conditions. It is predicted that on her official trial she will make twenty-three and a half knots, a record never made by any cruiser.

There is little doubt that "senatorial courtesy" is broad enough to shield from exposure Senators, who have been "indiscreet" in their Sugar stock speculations. The investigating committee seems to carry its investigation up to the point where it might expect to learn something and then abandons its line of inquiry. The investigation is degenerating into a farce and apparently sugar secrets are safe.

The State Commission in Lunacy began, yesterday, an investigation of the management of the Ward's Island Insane Asylum. The testimony taken showed a wretched condition of affairs. It is to be hoped that the investigation will be thorough and that whatever abuses exist will be exposed and remedied, though the Commission has been so prejudiced in favor of the Ward's Island Asylum, that it will be very reluctant to find anything against the management of the asylum, which it has held up before the officers and managers of the State Hospitals as a model of economical, successful and efficient asylum management.

Advices from China are that a great plague is raging in Hong Kong. The mortality is frightful, reaching eighty per cent. in some localities, and the disease is spreading despite the efforts of the authorities to check its progress. Physicians say it is almost identical with the great London plague of the seventeenth century, and is traceable to the filthy habits of the Chinese, and the wretchedly inadequate system of drainage. The scourge carries off whole families in a single night, and the panic stricken people parade the streets, night and day, praying in vain to their josses for deliverance.

Mr Henry W Wiggins, of this city, proposed in an amendment which he introduced in the Constitutional Convention, yesterday, to make all municipal elections non-partisan by prohibiting any political party, either State or national, from nominating city officers. The amendment was referred to the Committee on Cities. The end which Mr Wiggins has in view is a most worthy one, for all students of affairs are agreed that politics is a curse in municipal government, but it will take more than a constitutional amendment to abolish it. The only way to abolish politics from city affairs will be to abolish human nature in politicians.

Nineteen women, none of them known to fame and none of them prominent in the woman suffrage movement outside of the localities in which they live, pleaded for the ballot for women before the Constitutional Convention's Committee on Suffrage, last night. The newspaper correspondents are agreed that they made a profound impression and that the chances of equal suffrage are better now than they have been at any time. There was nothing new in the arguments advanced but the addresses were effective because the speakers came fresh from their homes and not from public platforms, and because as one of them said they represented "the home making, home-loving, unknown women of the State."

STRIKERS BURNING BRIDGES.

Ohio's Governor Asked to Send Troops to Aid the Sheriff of Belmont County—The Toledo Regiment and Battery D. Ordered to Columbus.

By United Press.

MASSILLON, Ohio, June 8.—The Cleveland-Lorain Railroad made another effort, this morning, to run two trains to Wheeling Creek. Both trains were forced back to Bridgeport by the strikers. One of the bridges is being burned.

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—The Sheriff of Belmont county has again appealed to the Governor for troops to be sent to Bridgeport. He says the bridge on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling Railway, near there, is now burning, having been set on fire by miners, and that great loss of life and destruction of property is threatened unless military aid is furnished. The Governor says he will order the 5th Regiment of Cleveland under arms if the force now in Belmont county is inadequate. He has issued an order to the 15th Regiment of Infantry and Battery D of the artillery, all of Toledo, to report here at once, as trouble is feared along the Norfolk and Western Railway.

CHARGED WITH BAYONETS.

Miners' Wives Stand Their Ground Until Troops Charge on Them.

By United Press.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 8.—The strikers have been driven by the troops from McClaine's cut, at St. Clairesville Junction, on the Baltimore and Ohio without bloodshed. A number of the wives of miners stood their ground and had to be charged upon with bayonets before they would budge. Trains resumed running at once.

FACTS CONCERNING IMMIGRATION.

From the Elmira Gazette.

Hjalmar H. Boyesen presents an interesting summary of immigration to the United States since 1850. He shows that in that year the foreigners resident in the United States numbered 2,244,602, or 9.68 per cent. of the total population. The census of 1890 reports 9,249,547 foreigners, constituting 14.77 per cent. of the total population. The increase in forty years has in round numbers been seven millions, of which Germany (including Austria) has contributed about two and a quarter millions, Ireland a little over a million, and England and her North American colonies about a million and a half. Then comes Sweden with nearly half a million, Norway with something over three hundred thousand, and Scotland with upward of 200,000. The Slavonic people cut much less of a figure than, considering their prominence in the newspapers, we have been led to expect, Russia, Hungary, Bohemia and Poland aggregating but 510,625, of which all but about 3,000 is increase since 1850. The Latin nations, including French, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian and their American colonies fall considerably below.

MRS. FITZGERALD IN THE STATE HOSPITAL

Talks at Length With an "Argus" Reporter—No Signs of Insanity—Her Life in the Tombs—Has a Bad Opinion of Parkhurst, but Thinks Well of Talmage—Views on Other Subjects.

Mrs. Catherine M. Fitzgerald, of New York, the slayer of Mrs. Carrie Poznall, who is now an inmate of the State Hospital, in this city, has been assigned to one of the cottages connected with the institution, where she will for a time enjoy the quiet retirement essential to a proper understanding of her true mental condition by the hospital physicians.

An ARGUS representative was granted an interview with Mrs. Fitzgerald, yesterday afternoon, soon after she entered her new abode, and found the woman a pleasant and entertaining conversationalist, notwithstanding the terrible ordeal through which she has passed. Of medium height, plainly but richly attired in black, with a pleasant, intelligent countenance, large dark eyes and dark hair, Mrs. Fitzgerald impresses one favorably and not as a lunatic with homicidal tendencies.

"This is not my first visit to Middletown," remarked the woman, "I have some friends here whom I have visited several times in the past. It is certainly a pleasant little city."

Although not caring to say much concerning her troubles, she ventured the assertion that though considerable had been published regarding her affairs, no person could imagine a hundredth part of the sufferings she has endured.

"Life in the tombs prison," she declared, "is something terrible. I spent eight months within its gloomy walls, scarcely getting a glimpse of the sunlight and compelled to endure a stench which is almost unbearable. Plenty of missionaries visit the place, but still the terrible state of things continues."

"You were not given as bad fare as some of the prisoners, were you?" queried the reporter.

"I suppose there were those who fared worse than I, and God knows I pity them. There is that poor Mrs. Meyer; my heart aches for her. She has been made the scapegoat for others"

Referring to the state of morals in the great city, Mrs. Fitzgerald paid her respects to Dr. Parkhurst somewhat after this fashion:

"Do you know, whenever I see a picture of Dr. Parkhurst it makes me shudder; I detest the man. His boasted reforms amount to nothing, except to win fame for himself, and I honestly believe he has done much toward corrupting the minds of the young. He wants to be Mayor of New York."

Speaking of clergymen who are prominent in New York and Brooklyn, Mrs. Fitzgerald declared her belief in the sincerity of Dr. T DeWitt Talmage, remarking that she was always benefited in listening to his discourses.

The reporter ventured a reference to her recent trial, the faithfulness of her counsel, etc., which elicited the following:

"I really remember but little of what occurred during the trial. I remember being told to stand on my feet at the close of the proceedings, and heard the words 'Not guilty,' but what took place immediately after I have not the slightest conception of. I sincerely hope I shall not be compelled to remain long in connection with this institution, but, of course, that remains to be determined. When my little son, Raymond, who accompanied me here, was getting ready to return home, he said, 'Oh, mamma, I am really afraid if you are compelled to remain here long, you will catch it, too.'"

When the reporter arose to depart, and, after thanking Mrs. Fitzgerald for the interview, expressed a desire that the clouds might speedily clear away, leaving much of sunshine in life for her yet, a pleasant smile lighted up her countenance, as with a cheery "Thank you," she bowed an adieu.

As soon as advisable, the woman will be examined as to her mental condition, but Superintendent Talcott says it will be necessary to grant her time to recover from the excitement incident to the recent past before proceeding with the examination.

A Macadamized Road to Harlem Park

David R. Miller and a force of men and teams are busily engaged in building a broad Macadamized road from North street to the entrance of Lea & Corey's Harlem Park. It is safe to predict that should the weather prove fine, one of the largest crowds ever seen in this city will be at the park at the celebration of July 4th. Arrangements have been completed with the O and W. for excursion rates from all points along that line

Free Driving on the Campbell Track,

The directors of the Middletown Fair and Driving Park Association announce the opening of the driving park for free driving for ten days. The track has been covered with loam and it will make one of the best training tracks in the State. Everybody is cordially invited to go out and sample it.

THE COMMON COUNCIL.

PROCEEDINGS OF LAST NIGHT'S REGULAR MEETING.

Crosswalks, Street Improvements and Street Lights Ordered—Ordinance Against Jumping on Moving Street Cars Passed—Committees to Report Action and Orders—Inspectors for the Tax Election Named—Other Business.

The regular meeting of the Common Council was held, last evening. Present, President Dorrance and Aldermen Funnell, Baldwin, Luddington, Mance, Reed and Sinsabaugh.

The annual report of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department was read and placed on file.

The representative of the naphtha company said that as it was about time to renew the contract for lighting the streets, he would request that the requirement that the lamps be kept burning until 5 a. m. be changed to 4 a. m. during the summer season.

A petition for an arc lamp on Highland avenue was read and placed on file.

A protest of Linden avenue property holders against the proposed Linden avenue sewer was read.

Crosswalks were ordered on Highland avenue; on Wickham avenue, corner of Lake avenue and Grove street, at the junction of Wickham avenue.

On motion of Mr. Reed it was ordered that Charles street be graded and curbed.

It was also ordered on Mr. Reed's motion that Mills avenue be graded and curbed.

A crosswalk was ordered at 255 North street, on Mr. Luddington's motion, as was also one in front of the North Street Congregational Church, and still another on North street at the corner of Low avenue.

A motion of Mr. Mance, that an arc light be put up at the end of the electric road on North street, was referred to the Lighting Committee, as was also a motion of Mr. Funnell to place an arc light at the corner of Beacon and Church street.

On motion of Mr. Baldwin, a naphtha lamp was ordered opposite Webb's Park.

On motion of Mr. Sinsabaugh, Benjamin street was ordered graded from Fulton street to Grand View.

An ordinance providing for a penalty for jumping on street cars was passed. The penalty is not less than $5.

On motion of Mr. Luddington, the Clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the lighting of the city.

On Mr. Baldwin's motion, the Fire Committee was authorized to purchase Deluge nozzles for the use of the department.

On motion of Mr. Mance, it was ordered that hereafter committees will be required to report their action and orders to the Council at regular meetings and in open session.

Mr. Mance moved that Canton shale brick blocks be substituted for the Mack block in the paving of North street, from the railroad to Wickham avenue, but the motion was lost, as it deserved to be.

Mr. E. McWilliams was appointed the inspector on the asphalt paving on North street.

Mr. Luddington took rather an advanced position, that the city should be lighted altogether by electricity, and that the Lighting Committee be authorized to contract for electric lights, but the motion did not prevail.

On Mr. Reed's motion, T. A. March was appointed one of the inspectors at the special tax election; on Mr. Sinsabaugh's motion, Chas. B. Hulse was appointed another inspector, and on motion of Mr. Luddington, Robt. Lemon was appointed the third inspector.

On motion of Mr. Reed, the compensation of the inspectors was fixed at $3 per day.

On motion, the Clerk was directed to prepare and have printed the tickets for the tax election.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

First Band Concert of the Season—Strawberry Festival—Ready to Receive Corporation Taxes—A Street Collision—Other Notes.

From our regular correspondent

—There was quite a large turnout, last night, at the first open air concert of the Goshen Band, in spite of the chilly weather and the fact that many of our people either took part in or attended the Vocal Society concert, at Middletown. The following programme was rendered in excellent style:

| | |
|---|---|
| Boulevard March | [illegible] |
| Night in Granada | Kreutzer |
| Won't you come along with me | Casey |
| Waltz—Remembrance of Naples | Bennett |
| Galop—Listen to me | Casey |
| Overture—Pastime | Laurendeau |
| Washington Post March | Sousa |
| My Darling Jack | Casey |
| Star Spangled Banner | |

—Ralph Winans, of Montgomery, was in town, last evening.

—Get your "best girl" engaged for the strawberry and ice cream festival, Thursday evening, June 14 in the Presbyterian chapel, or Friday evening, June 15th, at the M. E. Church parlors.

—Chas. E. Wright, corporation tax collector, will be at the Goshen National Bank, Tuesdays and Fridays, for the next two weeks, to receive money for taxes.

—Some young people were too reckless with their driving, on upper Main street, last night, and the result was a collision and two broken buggies. Reckless drivers should stay at home on band concert nights.

—C. T. Jackson is all smiles as he is the father of a fine pair of twins, a boy and a girl, born this morning. All are doing well.

GRADUATED AS PHYSICIANS.

Commencement Exercises of the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania.

Ex-Mayor S. M. Boyd was present, yesterday, at the commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania held in the Philadelphia Academy of Music, and saw his son Irwin H. Boyd receive his diploma as a Doctor of Medicine. He will enter on his duties as assistant physician at the Philadelphia Dispensary, on June 18.

Mr. Charles Lee Redfield, of this city, was also a member of the graduating class and will probably locate in Philadelphia, for the practice of his profession.

Mr. F. A. W. Booth, of Elmira, a grandson of Mrs. E. W. Shaw, was also one of the graduates.

Mr. Frederick S Kellogg, of New York, a nephew of Mrs. George A. Swalm, who spent last summer, in this city, a member of the first year's class, received honorable mention for his report of lectures on physical diagnosis.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The fol'owing graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat these parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit. [illegible] I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and [illegible] using it. Marvelous as it may seem, [illegible] a few days had passed before every bit of this creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

COLLECTING STAMPS.

A Philatelist Who Is Working to Obtain For Himself a Cork Leg.

Fred Ullrich, a young lad of Sycamore, Ills., is collecting 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps. Some time ago Fred, while returning home one evening, was attacked by a fierce mastiff. The animal came near killing the boy, but it was finally driven off by some citizens who came up. The dog had bitten the boy so badly that one leg had to be amputated, and an arm was rendered useless. The Ullrichs are not rich, so the boy adopted a plan by which he is to secure for himself a cork leg. The leg has been promised him if he succeeds in collecting 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps.

The other day young Ullrich received by express a bag weighing 100 pounds, filled with canceled postage stamps and bits of paper torn from the envelopes. They had been sent by Miss Alice Smith, a clerk in the employ of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co. Miss Smith had seen an advertisement of the boy's purpose in a newspaper, and she wrote him to inquire as to the truth in the case. The reply she received was satisfactory, and she began collecting stamps. The large bag received the other day by the boy came from her. Miss Smith gets all the envelopes from the heavy mail received by the firm. Yesterday afternoon she was tearing stamps off of envelopes, of which she had a large number. While doing this work she explained how she had become interested in the boy's case and had resolved to help him.

"It's not so much work, and it will benefit him," she said. "It didn't take very long to collect those that I sent him, and I may send some more."—Chicago Record.

HOW HE WAS CURED.

A Highly Dramatic Episode That Led a Drunkard to Swear Off.

Not long ago a prominent Main street merchant was a confirmed drunkard. He loved liquor so madly that he was a misery to himself and every one about him, especially to his young and handsome wife. One night recently he decided to commit suicide. He told his wife about it, and she was so miserable that she said if he was to end his existence she wanted to die too. The man proceeded to a drugstore in the western part of the city, near his residence, and purchased 20 cents' worth of chloral. He returned home and divided the poison equally, and while they were in the notion each swallowed the drug.

The young wife walked to the bed like a brave woman or coward, as you please, and laid herself down to die. It was different with the husband. As soon as the poison had been taken he began to regret the step. In a few minutes he became frantic and rushed off to the drug store where he had procured the chloral and told the druggist the situation. He was relieved, with some trouble, of the poison, but they had a hard time in saving the wife. She finally recovered, however, and they get along happily together now, as the experience caused the man to stop drinking. This is a true story. Only three persons in Louisville know the details, and all were sworn to secrecy the night it all happened.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Will Pullman Follow Suit?

All the trains on the District railway will soon be provided with electric reading lamps, to be worked upon the "penny-in-the-slot" principle. Preparations are so far advanced that the wiring of the carriages is nearly completed. About 2,300 lamps will be required. They are very ingeniously constructed. A penny dropped into the box will set a small clock in motion for half an hour, during which time the current will be switched on, and the lamp will throw its concentrated rays direct upon the book or newspaper of the passenger who pays for it and nobody else. Should any mischievous person tamper with the apparatus an electric warning will be sounded in the guard's van. Each lamp will be of 20 candle power, and there will be four in each compartment. The current is derived from a battery, which will supply four lamps. No date can be assigned for the commencement of this special system of illumination, but it is probable that it will be inaugurated some time this month.—London Telegraph.

A Ninety-nine Years' Sentence.

Frank Moore, a notorious burglar, was last month sentenced in St. Louis to 99 years' imprisonment in the Missouri penitentiary at Jefferson City. He is otherwise known as Bart McGuire and has given much trouble to the police in all the large cities of the west. His present sentence, which is unprecedented in St. Louis, was bestowed under the habitual criminal law, an old act which had been allowed to grow rusty upon the statute books and had been almost forgotten. It provides for a sentence, upon a second conviction, of not less than 10 years nor more than 99. Moore is 46 years old and says he was born in England.—St. Louis Correspondent.

Laughed Herself to Death.

Bertha Pruett, aged 20 years, laughed herself to death the other night. She was entertaining a number of friends, one of whom, a young man, is noted as a wit. One of his remarks threw Miss Pruett into a violent fit of laughing, which lasted some minutes, when it suddenly changed to a cry of pain, and she fell to the floor. Blood gushed from her nose and mouth, and medical assistance was summoned, but before anything could be done to relieve the young girl she was dead. The young man who cracked the fatal joke is prostrated with grief.—Philadelphia Dispatch.

Swore to His Name Both Ways.

One of the bureaus of the treasury department received a document last month in which a claimant's name was spelled in two ways. The office sent word to the claimant that he must make an affidavit as to the correct spelling. On Wednesday the affidavit came. The claimant spells his name in one way in the body of the paper and signs it in another.—Washington Capitol.

THE KIND THAT CURES

Mrs. Rosette L. Greene, of Morris, N.Y., writes: — "My husband used your Sarsaparilla for a bad case of Heart Disease, that had troubled him since he was 17 years of age. It cured him, and he is able to work. My little girl was weak, emaciated, and suffered greatly from Kidney Disease. A persistent use of DANA'S SARSAPARILLA CURED her, and she is WELL and STRONG."

MARRIAGE BETWEEN WOMEN.

A Trial In a London Court Reveals a Plot Worthy of the Dime Novel.

The legal world of London is much exercised over the complications likely to ensue from revelations made in a trial which has been had before Mr. Justice Chitty. It appears that in a marriage contracted in 1865, which up to the present time was thought to be valid, both parties were women.

In the year mentioned Mrs. Rachel Elizabeth Cullener, a widow, was harassed by creditors who wanted to attach the income she derived from the will of her husband. This income, by the will, she would lose if she married again. She had living with her a son and daughter, together with Miss Sophia Newland, a cousin of Mrs. Cullener's late husband.

The whole family was suffering for want of food, when it was suggested by the daughter that her mother marry again, after which her children would collect the income and support her. It was difficult to find a husband who could be trusted. So Mrs. Cullener, in man's clothes, under the name of James Stanley, was married in due form to Miss Sophia Newland, who at the marriage ceremony took the name of Mrs. Cullener.

Both signed their borrowed names in the register of the parish, and Mrs. Newland liv[illegible]ith Mrs. Cullener until 1883. Both ha[illegible] testified on the trial to the facts here narrated. Mr. Justice Chitty refused to believe the witnesses and dismissed the case, holding that a woman who has, by her own admission, been for years "steeped in fraud" has no right to complain if the courts decline to believe her when she comes forward in her own interest to impeach a solemn entry in a marriage register, the accuracy of a recital in a deed to which she was herself a party and the plain intent and meaning of the course of conduct which she has pursued.—London Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

CHEAP DIAMONDS.

Universal Hard Times Said to Be Unsettling the Market For the Sparklers.

It will not be surprising if the universal hard times cause a great crash in the diamond market. It is well known that the great syndicate which has controlled the price of precious stones in the past few years finds the enormously increased production, combined with the steadily shrinking market, a very difficult condition to deal with.

Cecil Rhodes, the virtual king of South Africa, told the stockholders of the consolidated De Beers mines at Cape Town, on Thursday, that the cause of the present depression in the diamond trade was to be found in America, which took one-third of the world's production. These mines have long been the greatest producers, but one of the two other South African companies has recently much increased its output in spite of the control exercised by the syndicate. It is now possible to obtain small diamonds in London at astonishingly low figures. No cutting of prices has yet been made by reputable jewelers in the retail trade, but the supply of small stones is so enormous that those who know the ropes can buy them at 20 to 50 per cent of the prices of 1892. —London Cable.

JINGLES OF THE DAY.

"Busy."

When in some stocks you've dabbled deep
And wake some morning from your sleep,
Oh, what a dear, delightful thing,
As on the telephone you ring
Your broker up for him to sell,
To have that girl back at you yell,
"Busy!"

When from your house you rush forth quick
And leave your wife at home quite sick,
And to the nearest station go
And ring your doctor up, how slow
The minutes pass while thus you wait
Until you hear that sweet girl state,
"Busy."

Perchance you've asked some fair, sweet maid
To go where large hats are displayed
And find, when at her house remote,
Those tickets—in another coat.
You'll "telephone," 'twill take "a trice,"
And then that voice cries, cold as ice,
"Busy!"

You leave for Europe; steamer due
To sail on Saturday at 2,
And just before you start you look:
You've left at home that pocketbook!
"Great Scott! Wife knows. I'll telephone.
Hello! Ah, there," and then you groan.
"Busy."

I knew a fellow who adored
One of the telephone board.
He loved her with a passion strong;
He loved her much; he loved her long.
But when to tell his love he tried
The maid mechanically replied,
"Busy."

Fair telephonic girls, beware
Some day you'll mount the golden stair.
Take heed now ere it be too late,
Or else when you've knocked at the gate
And given your number Peter'll say:
"Oh, come around some other day—
Busy."
—New York World.

On Deck Once More.

Now school is going steady,
And the boys are neck and neck,
For they're busy making ready
For the usual "burning deck."

And now full many a region
"Sir John Moore's Burial" hears,
And "the soldier of the legion"
Is "dying in Algiers."

And as of old the fur flew,
It will still fly out of sight,
For we hope to hear that "curfew
Shall not ring tonight."
—Detroit Free Press.

His Absent Queen.

Tonight,
Fast in my arms I hold thee,
Anastasia mine,
My queen!
Fast in my very arms!
And yet,
If but last night I'd held thee
Only in my hand—
How then indeed would you
Have been to me
A queen imperious!
For then,
Clasping as I did those other queens,
Those three right royal ladies
(And had 'em all the time),
With that king full that Bill Jones held
You bet I'd staid
And whooped it up
Until the cows came home,
And, like a cyclone revolving out to hustle things,
I'd rake the pot,
That big, that opulent, that fat jack pot,
And stowed it in my jeans—
If but last night I'd held thee
Just in my one weak hand,
Oh, queen!
—Ed Mott in New York Sun.

Tak er Tatah en Wait.

When I's a little feller—
De littl'st un to hum—
I uster allus have to wait
Whenever de preacha come.
"Now y'all das sot right down en eat,
Brother Johnson, and pass yo' plate,
En Sammy," mam' ud say t' me,
"Yo' kin tak er tatah en wait."

En den, when dey us done—
Hit took 'em pow'ful long—
Dey stahted in wid prayin
En finished up wid er song.
I felt lak bouncin er gre't big rock
Offen de preacha's ole bal' pate,
Kase h'd lok at me en say, 'Leetle boy
Had ter tak er tatah en wait."

En when I gits ter be er man
Wid chilluns uv my own,
I'ze gwinter ax Preacha Johnson
T' come en ca've de bone.
Den I'll say, "Chilluns, sot up en eat:
Dr dinnah smells fus' rate!
Brother Johnson, yo' is ole.
Yo kin tak er tatah en wait!"
—Kansas City Star.

A Base Hit.

He was a Princeton sophomore
And she his Vassar flame.
They sat upon the campus green
And watched a baseball game.

The soph was all devotion
And explained the how and why
Of base hits and the difference
Between a foul and fly.

The maid was all attention—
In truth so deep engrossed
The fond words that he whispered
In her shell-like ears were lost.

"Why so pensive?" asked the sophy.
(Blissful hope! Oh, can it be
That I am the attraction
And her fancy dwells on me!)

"I'm thinking of the time," she sighed,
"When we, as well as you
May wear the new divided skirt
And run the bases too!"
—New York Sun.

Lost.

Smoking a twenty cent cigar,
I walked along the street.
A girl I knew stepped from a car.
I saw that we must meet.

And maybe talk. What could I do?
How well it makes me now!
Away that choicest weed I threw,
And then—she didn't bow.
—New York World.

Then He Felt Different.

"My wife is going away," he said
And smiled a blissful smile.
"Now glad I am, for with the boys
I'll be gay for awhile.

"I'll play upon the table green,
And every night I'll roam
Where faces of the stage are seen—
And this is not at home."

Just then his wife came in and left
A package small and neat
And told him that it was for him,
With smile that was so sweet.

And then his castles in the air
All went, as fades the rose.
Unhappy man! She'd given him
Her bills for summer clothes.
—Cloak Review.

Forensic Fire.

"And now, gentlemen of the jury," shouted the young lawyer, running his long fingers through his flowing locks, "now, gentlemen of the jury, I ask you as men and as citizens of this great and glorious republic if the spotless character of my client is to be permitted to suffer from the words uttered by that—by that—by that vermiform appendix who sits in the witness box with perjury stamped all over him."—Exchange.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that Tuesday, June 12th, 1894, at 8 p. m., and the chambers of the Common Council, on Foundry street, Middletown, N. Y., be and are hereby designated as the time and place when and where the application of the Middletown Goshen Traction Company to the Common Council of the city of Middletown, N. Y. will first be considered for consent and permission of said Common Council, for the construction, maintenance, operation and extension by the said petitioners of a street surface Railroad, in the manner and form as provided by law, through the following additional streets, to wit:

Beginning at the intersection of Academy avenue and Benton avenue, thence southeasterly through, along and upon Benton avenue to a street extending on the northerly side of Blye Park (so called) said street being an extension from Sprague avenue, connecting Sprague avenue and Benton avenue thence through, along and upon the said street to Sprague avenue connecting the Academy avenue line with the Sprague avenue line of the said railroad company.

Also beginning on Lake avenue, at the intersection of Hanford street, through, along and upon Hanford street, from Lake avenue to Knapp avenue: thence through, along and upon Knapp avenue to Chestnut street; thence through, along and upon Chestnut street to a street proposed to be opened from Chestnut street as follows, to wit:

Said street beginning at an iron rod driven in the ground on the westerly line of Chestnut street, as now laid out, said rod being 90 feet measured along said westerly line of Chestnut street from the point of intersection of the westerly line of Chestnut street with the easterly line of Bonnell street, as now laid out, and measured from thence S 79 degrees W 161 66 ft. crossing Bonnell street to the westerly right of way line of the N. Y., L. E. and W. R. R. and over the said railroad. Said street being 50 feet in width and 25 feet on each side of the above described centre line extending from the westerly line of Chestnut street to the westerly right of way line of the N. Y., L. E. and W. R. R. and connecting Chestnut street with Cornelia street, as now laid out.

Thence through, along, and upon the last described route or highway, as now laid out or to be laid out, to said Cornelia street, thence through, along and upon Cornelia street, as now laid out or to be laid out, to Monhagen avenue, connecting the Lake avenue with the Monhagen avenue lines of said company, and also to construct such switches and turnouts as may be convenient for the working of such road, to erect the necessary poles and string the wires through, along and upon said named streets and avenues.

By order of the Common Council.

INCURABLE HORSES KILLED.

Dead Horses and Cows Carted Away.

On and after September 1st, I will resume the business of removing dead stock.

Incurable horses put out of misery by special authority of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Dead horses and cows and worn out and diseased animals, good only for their carcasses and hides, will be removed free of charge, within twenty-four hours after receipt of notice, within a radius of eight miles from Middletown. Address by postal or telegraph, at my cost, not to exceed 25 cents. Carcasses removed only with the hides on.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

Great is Science—Too Expensive a Chicken for a Poor Man—Effects of Weather on Mind and Manners.

A friend of very mercurial temperament, who is either up on the heights or down the banks, said, this morning, that it was a blessed good thing the sun was shining again, for the cloudy, rainy, raw weather we have been having for the past three weeks was wearing out the tempers and spoiling the dispositions of people who had to live under such conditions. He averred that he had noticed that the men and women whom he met were becoming nervous, irritable, irascible, and that even those whom he knew to be kindly disposed and well meaning had to make an evident effort to be half-way decent. How much of this was imagination, pure and simple, how much of it the reflex of his own jangled organization and how much of it reality is a problem that I have not undertaken to solve; but it is a well established fact that the weather does exert a marked influence upon the mind, and a writer in a recent number of the American Journal of Psychology quotes the head of a factory employing 2,000 workmen as saying that a disagreeable day yields ten per cent. less work than a pleasant day, and this fact is so well established that it is counted as a factor in calculating the possibilities of the establishment. A careful record kept in the factory shows also that accidents are most numerous on bad days.

⁂

During the dry periods of the last few years, scientific writers have deplored the depletion of our forests, ascribing that as the cause of the drouth. If their theory was true, there must have been a powerful increase in forest area during the last twenty days to have caused such a downpour of rain all over the United States. Great is science.

⁂

The cold, wet weather of the past few weeks has caused a frightful mortality among young chicks and Middletown poultry fanciers, who counted their chickens before they were grown, now find that they have very few to count. A poultry fancier of my acquaintance, who paid $3 a setting for three settings of eggs of a choice strain and ninety cents express charges on the same, got eighteen chicks out of the three settings. The hens came off the nests last week and since then all the chicks have died but one, and the owner of that $9.90 bantling is wishing that it too would die, for he says he is too poor to keep such an expensive fowl.

A ROUND-UP OF TRAMPS

Twelve Knights of the Road Gathered in by the Police Last Night.

The police made a raid at the Summit, and in the O. and W. and Susquehanna yards, last night, and twelve tramps were locked up for safe keeping. They were quite a respectable gang, for their kind, and three of them were under eighteen years of age. Their descriptions were taken, and they were discharged with a warning that if caught again they would be sent to Albany as vagrants.

A Newburgh Hardware Store Robbed.

Quinlan's hardware store, in Newburgh, was entered by burglars, Wednesday night, and robbed of ten revolvers and a number of knives and razors. There are two theories as to the crime,—one that the bridge bandits are arming, and another that the reward of $1,000 has tempted the boys of the city to arm for the capture of Homer Sarvis.

Centennial Celebration of the Inauguration of the First Governor.

From the Kingston Freeman.

Preparations for the centennial celebration of the inauguration of the first Governor of New York State, July 30th, are being made by the committee of the Senate House Association. It is expected there will be present three or four military companies besides the 14th Separate Company in the parade.

Inspection of the 24th.

Inspector-General Thos. H. McGrath was a passenger on Erie train 8, yesterday afternoon. The inspection of the 24th will probably be made during the latter part of this or the first part of next month, prior to the 24th's trip to State Camp.

Justified in Recommending Hood's.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for two years, and have always found it beneficial in purifying the blood and building up new strength. My wife first began taking it two years ago this spring after our physician had [illegible]. With the [illegible] she began to improve and [illegible] considered it the [illegible] of all household remedies, [illegible] fully justified in recommending it [illegible] and all." Mark [illegible] Grove, N. Y.

It Is Not Hard.

[illegible] always tells us everything that [illegible] tells you, but when you hear [illegible] the best blood purifier is Sulphur Bitters, you can believe it, for they cured me of a severe case of blood poisoning. Rev A. Fairchild, New York city.

MOSES IN EGYPT

Successful Presentation of Rossini's Great Oratorio at the Armory—A Rare Musical Event—A Large and Well Pleased Audience.

Rev D. B. Clark has every reason to congratulate himself upon the artistic as well as the financial success which attended his efforts in the production of the oratorio, "Moses in Egypt," at the armory, last evening.

The spacious drill hall had been turned into an auditorium for the occasion, by the erection of a large elevated stage at the southern end of the building, upon which the chorus of two hundred voices was seated. Numbered chairs from the Casino and Assembly Rooms were arranged in a semi-circle in front of the stage, and when the large audience had assembled nearly every seat was occupied, about six hundred tickets having been sold.

The oratorio began promptly at 7:45 in order that the many singers from Goshen and elsewhere could take the 10.45 train for their homes.

The first few bars of the orchestral introduction immediately commanded the attention of the large assemblage, and long before the opening strains of the chorus were sounded it was evident that a rare musical treat was in store. The orchestra of eighteen pieces, under the leadership of S. [illegible], assisted by Paul [illegible], harpist and W. W. [illegible], Jr., organist, was composed largely of soloists from the New York Philharmonic Club.

At the conclusion of the opening chorus the audience gave evidence of its appreciation and satisfaction by an outburst of applause, loud and long enough for an encore, but Mr. Clark evidently does not believe in encores and the next number was quickly taken up and the programme carried out without interruption.

The soloists were in fine voice, with possibly one exception, and at the conclusion of each number were the recipients of much applause.

Miss Katharine Hilke possesses one of the clearest and strongest soprano voices ever heard in the city, and she made a most favorable impression upon her listeners.

Miss Amy Ward, Murray whose clear, sweet voice, attractive presence and charming manner have so many times delighted Middletown audiences, was given a most hearty reception and, though her part, Sinais, was not a prominent one, scored a distinct success.

Miss Bertha Harmon has a most pleasing voice and her rendition of the difficult music of the part of Zillah gave evidence of careful study and artistic training.

The Moses of Mr. George E. Wiseman was all that could be desired. His voice is strong and it was fully equal to the demands made upon it. The Pharaoh of Mr. John D. Shaw was most excellent. He possesses a rich bass voice and sang without any apparent effort. He made a most favorable impression. Mr. Grant Odell also pleased his hearers by his excellent singing, his fine bass voice completely filling the large auditorium. Of the tenors Messrs Geo. W. Campbell and Mr. Thos. Evans Greene were excellent in their respective roles, and their singing left nothing to be desired. Mr. Addison F. Andrews, who essayed the part of Ophis, possesses a sweet tenor voice, but one hardly strong enough for so large a room. He might, however, have made a much more favorable impression had it not been for his many facial contortions and mannerisms, which overwhelmed the audience with a sense of his consciousness of his own importance.

The chorus, which was composed of the best voices in Orange county, was all that could be desired, and reflected great credit upon the leader, Mr. Clark.

Too much cannot be said in eulogy of this gentleman for his careful and painstaking work. He is a born leader and instructor in oratorio, and his efforts to provide even one evening's musical treat for Middletown people will long be remembered by the many lovers of music who were present last night.

LIGHTNING'S QUEER WORK

How the Electric Fluid Danced and Played Around a House in Bellvale.

From the Warwick Advertiser.

The subtle influences of electricity were felt in many places about town last week. The fine farm house of Mr. J B Van Duzer, near Bellvale, was treated peculiarly. The slate was not overturned as stated, but the explosion over the cistern was terrific. His daughter standing near was severely shocked, so that her ears and throat felt the effect of it for some days. The lightning seemed to drop off the house from every side. The leader pipes on three sides were broken through or marred or wrenched in two; corner boards torn off and holes made in the plaster on the inside, while the plaster of the ceiling of one room was so loosened that it will have to come off. The house was supposed to be on fire and things were hastily removed by Mr. Van Duzer, while his son ran around with a pail of water to put out the flames. Happily no fire occurred.

PETER THE GREAT.

A Horse 22 Hands High, Weighing 1,700 Pounds, Is Still Growing.

A freak of nature and world wonder in the shape of a horse is drawing many of the curious to the livery stable on South Third street just now. This specimen of the equine kind is unquestionably the tallest in the world. It is, in fact, a colt, not yet 3 years old, measuring the enormous height of 22 hands—7 feet and 4 inches. In weight this horse wonder tips the scales at 1,700 pounds.

Peter—that is his name—is a gelding and was foaled in Minnesota in June, 1891. He is of Norman stock and a beautiful dapple gray in color. What is almost as remarkable as his huge proportion is the fact that his dam and sire were not above the average size of that breed of horses. Another colt from the same dam and sire, a year younger than Peter, but proportionably as large, if not larger, died some months ago.

Peter, as evidenced by his weight, is a well proportioned animal. His limbs are clean cut, and the head, body and neck of good form. He is, as is the case with many colts, a little bit swaybacked, but this imperfection, horsemen say, will disappear with age. The hips are a little higher than the highest point of the shoulders, from which the height and measurement are usually taken.

Should the horse grow to maturity, it is not unreasonable to expect that he will attain fully 6 inches more in height and develop proportionately otherwise, carrying a weight possibly of 3,000 pounds. A gelding seldom attains its full height until 7 years old, while mares generally mature two years younger.

There is nothing of record, several horsemen say, which equals the height of the colt in question. Several years ago, however, there was a horse on exhibition in Toronto which weighed 2,800 pounds.

Peter is physically sound and healthy. At such an age, growing with the rapidity that he is, he could not retain much flesh, though he might be said to be in good trim for work. His carriage is good and movements far less clumsy and awkward than might be expected of an animal of such proportions.—Seattle Telegraph.

MONEY KINGS FEAST.

The Banquet to Millionaires Recently Given in London by Baron Hirsch.

Baron Hirsch is a highly susceptible millionaire who believes in royalty, who has followed the fortunes of the Prince of Wales assiduously, and who is supposed to have "staked" that personage on many occasions. For awhile he dropped out of the papers, but he is back again now, and his genius for doing things that cause people to talk seems again to be in good working order. The dinners of rich men have been frequent, but Baron Hirsch conceived the idea of getting the 12 richest men in London together and giving them a dinner which would rank as the most expensive one in the long history of that great dinner giving metropolis.

According to a correspondent, it was a feast of money from beginning to end. Not a single guest was admitted whose fortune was not estimated in millions of pounds, and the English papers have become delirious in trying to figure out the exact wealth represented by the baron's 11 guests.

The baron himself made no pretense of giving the dinner for a special object, except to see how good a dinner he could buy. The chef of the Hotel Savoy and the proprietors of that establishment entered cheerfully into the baron's scheme, and the result was a dinner which it took four hours to eat, was paid for in about four minutes and cost upward of $3,500. It cannot be wondered at that the Prince of Wales is fond of Baron Hirsch.

The Trouble Over.

A prominent man in town exclaimed the other day: "My wife has been wearing out her life from the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. Her case baffled the skill of our best physicians. After using three packages of Bacon's Celery King for the Nerves she is almost entirely well." ## A NOBLE GIFT

PLACED IN A DAUGHTER'S HANDS

In Order That a Life's Work May Be Perpetuated.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

It was an eventful day.

One of the noblest women of the age felt the weight of years upon her. Her whole life had been given to one grand work, and her name was known throughout the civilized world.

Before her was a younger woman, and they were seated in the great "record room," where were stored many women's stories of sorrow and joy.

Letters by the thousands, together with great books of record, containing the important points of advice and treatment in special cases, were all about them.

The elder woman turned over the leaves and read:—

"I was sorely afflicted with chronic inflammation of the womb.... I am now well."

Turning over another page she read.—

"They said I was consumptive, and gave me up.... But you proved my [illegible] to the [illegible], and through you I am well."

Another page said:—

"... Your remedy came to me with hope, when the [illegible] upon me. You saved my life, and I bless you continually."

Then the book was closed and placed in the hands of the younger woman.

"These are the records of my life-work—over the peculiar diseases of women. They give the history of each case, and how it was treated.

"I am growing old. Some day I must give up the effort, and I bequeath to you my life work for the physical salvation of women. Carry it forward that all may be cured."

The elder woman was Lydia E. Pinkham. The younger was her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Pinkham, the one woman fully equipped to carry out the requirements of this noble legacy, not only by natural endowments, but from her knowledge through constant study and years of experience in assisting her mother in her voluminous correspondence and personal treatment of woman's diseases.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will redeem women from the fearful consequences of all diseases of the womb. All druggists have it for you.
